Subject: Dictionary 3 (Institute codes) – 1USAUCX, 1USAMIU

I just came across of article of Jacob & Markowitz [1] and discovered that University of California, Berkeley does not have an institution code. In this particular case, Jacob was a graduate student, who performed his research at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory.

Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory is DOE lab that is operated by University of California. It is very similar to Brookhaven National Laboratory that is operated by Stony Brook Science Associates and we have two separate codes for Brookhaven and Stony Brook University. It creates a problem because of a large number of UC, Berkeley graduate students who conduct their research at many different places.

I suggest assigning a separate INSTITUTE code for UC, Berkeley to avoid further complications, the similar situation with Miami University [2]:

Dictionary 3 (Institute codes)

1USAUCX	University of California, Berkeley
1USAMIU	Miami University, Oxford, Ohio
